FIFTH ARMY ASTRIDE VIA CASILINA ROAD

Yankee Spearhead Drives Two Miles Beyond Velletri

While Americans Battle on Heights In Sight of Rome, British Pound Highway to Penetrate Important City of Ferentino

KEY FORTRESS ON APPIAN WAY IS ENCIRCLED

By SID FEDER

Allied Headquarters, Naples, June 2—(AP)—Strong U. S. tank and infantry forces were astride the famed Via Casilina barely 20 miles from Rome today—sealing off the main escape route from the Germans' crumbling southern front—and other Americans spread out through the Alban hills after piercing the center of the Nazis' final line below the city.

Fifth Army troops broke into the center, on the Appian Way 18 miles from Rome, fighting fiercely in the streets against the cut-off enemy garrison. Beyond the by-passed town, U. S. infantry battled on the Alban heights within sight of the Eternal City.

Americans severed the Via Casilina near Valmontone, and the heavily punished Hermann Goering armored division now is fighting a rear guard action farther north and west, a battlefront dispatch said.

SIGNIFICANT BLOWS AIMED AT JAPANESE

In Unprecedented Operations Allies Comb Numerous Vital Points in the Pacific

ALL ARE BACK SAFELY

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters Pearl Harbor, June 2—(AP)—A giant Pacific triangular area was dotted by bomb craters today—across 1,000 miles of the Carolines, north to Guam, then beyond Japan in the frigid Kuriles and back to Wake—as the consequence of co-ordinated blows by American bombers from three war theaters.

In operations unprecedented for their swift extent, bombers from the southwest and central Pacific combed the Carolines; Central Pacific planes flew the 1,200 miles to Guam; other central Pacific bombers pounded Wake; and Aleutian-based planes struck the Kuriles. All planes returned safely from these hazardous operations.

These blows were massed from Sunday through Tuesday and were announced today and yesterday by Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Adm. Chester W. Nimitz.

Army Mitchell's from the Nimitz theater ripped into the defenses of Hanoi in the eastern Carolines. At Truk, 440 miles beyond, fires which could be seen for 150 miles and bombers from the MacArthur theater made a light stab from the Admiralty Islands.

Other Admiralty-based planes struck 190 miles west at Alet island airdrome and far into the western Carolines at Woleai.

Central Pacific army Liberators from Eniwetok gave Guam its third land-based bombing since Japan wrested that Marianas island from the Americans. They fought off 10 enemy fighters, probably downing one, without loss.

Wake, the former American base which a carrier task force virtually immobilized May 23, was hit by central Pacific army Liberators which had to contend only with moderate anti-aircraft fire.

All-Out Assault On Biak Mapped

By ROBERT EUNSON

Advanced Allied Headquarters, New Guinea, June 2—(P)—Massing of American reinforcements for an all-out assault on Biak Island in the Schoutens and pincer moves aimed at trapping Japanese on two other fronts were announced today.

Under Seventh Fleet guns and without enemy aerial or naval interference, more than 100 tanks landed on Tuesday at Biak, enemy air base in Dutch New Guinea's Geelvink Bay, which was invaded Saturday. As they moved up from the Bosnek beachhead, aircraft and ground fighters hammered at Japanese sniper and mortar positions on ridges commanding the beach for several miles and the coastal road leading to the island's three air-dromes.

On Bougainville Island, in the northern Solomons, Allied units landed behind Japanese lines Tuesday at the mouth of the Tekisi river, in the southern sweep of Empress Augusta Bay, on the island's west coast.

WMC Issues Drastic Orders

REGULATIONS CHANNEL ALL MALE LABOR

Virtually Every Job-Seeker Will Be Required to Apply to Federal Service for Assignment

ON NATION-WIDE BASIS

Washington, June 2—(P)—Sweeping new controls over the nation's dwindling supply of male workers were ordered today by the War Manpower Commission to be placed in effect by July 1.

They provide that virtually every job-seeking man in America will be required to apply to the United States Employment Service for assignment to the war plant where he is most needed, regardless of where that plant may be located. Employers, on the other hand, will be permitted to hire only those men referred to them by the USES.

The successful conduct of the war now requires the channeling of all available male labor in the nation to jobs of greatest war production urgency, and the retention of such labor in those jobs," War Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt declared in announcing the new program.

It extends on a nation-wide basis the WMC's voluntary program already in effect in about a dozen areas of critical labor shortage.

Farm workers are not restricted nor are businesses with eight or less employees.

McNutt said one of the principal difficulties in recruiting men for war jobs and retaining them is "over-optimism with respect to an early ending of the war"—this causing workers to look for peacetime employment.

"I have been most disturbed by this attitude," he said. "The war is not nearly over and such sentiment is positively dangerous to the war effort."

McNutt explained that while the program is on a voluntary basis, sanctions can be imposed in cases of non-compliance. He said workers who refuse to cooperate would find it difficult without a clearance slip to get a job, while employers who do not participate will not have workers referred to them.

Industries most in need of "strong male labor" at present, McNutt asserted, are foundries and forge shops, rubber and tire production, ship repair, logging and lumbering. Similar acute shortages, he added, are developing in such fields as textile manufacturing, coal mining and electronic equipment.

While the WMC order instructs each regional manpower director to put the plan into effect by July 1, McNutt said it could be adopted earlier by any area wishing to do so.

St. Louis was without transportation facilities today as striking street car operators and bus drivers remained away from their jobs, but some of the 3,500 employees were threatened with reclassification into I.A. in the draft because of their refusal to work.

Eight St. Louis draft boards ordered immediate reclassification of some of the 3,500 strikers, whose two-day strike has affected more than a half million St. Louis residents.

With House Speaker Sam Rayburn (Tex) scheduled for a keynote address, a group of Democratic leaders sought at the Maryland convention today to name an 18-vote unopposed delegation to give the state a hand in the selection of a vice presidential candidate at the party's national convention.

Rayburn, who has been mentioned as a second place choice if President Roosevelt seeks a fourth term, was called upon for a "harmony" talk in a meeting where all factions apparently wanted to prevent any outcropping of anti-Roosevelt sentiment.

The Maryland meeting vied for attention with a gathering of Indiana Republicans to complete that state's slate of 29 GOP delegates and to pick nominees for governor and senator.

Twenty-two of the Indiana delegates were chosen yesterday, in congressional district caucuses, without instructions as to how to vote at the Chicago convention.

The National Socialist party opened its three-day convention in Reading, Pa., with the emphasis laid on policies rather than candidates.

In Washington, John B. Quinn, who managed Lieut. Commander Harold E. Stassen's successful campaign in the Nebraska preferential primary, complained that the silence of major presidential candidates was making the political race a "hush-a-bye" contest.

Bricker, in an address at Trenton, N. J., last night, demanded that congress take immediate action to halt what he termed the CIO Political Action Committee's "subversive use of money to corrupt the approaching election."

World YMCA Sunday Will Be Observed In Local Churches

This coming Sunday will be World Y. M. C. A. Sunday, and the Warren churches, through the cooperation of the Ministerial Association, will appropriately observe the occasion in the regular morning services. Sunday will open the 100th Anniversary Week of the Y. M. C. A. as a world movement.

To strengthen a historic bond between the Y. M. C. A. and the church, most of the local ministers have arranged for one or more features in connection with the morning service. In most churches the front and back pages of the calendar, or bulletin, will be devoted exclusively to interesting material relative to the world movement of the Y. M. C. A., as well as the local work of the association.

Nine of the churches have asked for boys or young men of the Y. M. C. A. membership to give brief statements concerning the "Y" Centennial with emphasis on its significance for youth. The churches and speakers are:

First Presbyterian, Robert Wilder; First Methodist, Dean Blair; Grace Methodist, William Erickson; First Baptist, Richard Harp; First Lutheran, William Yeager, Jr.; Trinity Memorial Episcopal, Nick Geracimos; First Evangelical, Ted Shattuck; Salem Evangelical, Charles Sires; St. Paul's Lutheran, Gary Davis.

In some churches the pastors will make supplemental statements, or preach sermons on appropriate themes.

With only the weekend remaining before the principal celebration locally of the Y. M. C. A. Centennial, those who wish to participate in the Second Century Day dinner next Tuesday evening are strongly urged by the chairman, R. W. Steber, to get in their reservations to the "Y" office without further delay.

The big feature of the occasion will be an address by the Honorable Gustav L. Schramm, judge of the Orphans Court of Allegheny county, Pittsburgh. Judge Schramm (Turn to Page Twelve)

Washington, June 2—(P)—The War Department announced today that Col. Philip G. Cochran, commanding officer of the First Air Commando Force, which flew the British Chindits into Burma and then supplied them by air, has returned to Washington to report to Gen. H. H. "We have only scratched the surface of the possibility of moving armies by air," said Cochran in an enthusiastic report on the bold airborne invasion of central Burma.

Cochran, whose home is at 1053 W. Ninth street, Erie, Pa., was accompanied by Lt. Col. Arvid E. Olson, Chicago, operations officer of the First Commando Air Force, and Lt. Col. Grant Mahony, Vallejo, Calif., chief of its fighter section. All three will go on leave shortly.

Cochran's force operated from February 1 to May 20, flying the late Maj. Gen. Orde C. Wingate's Chindits into Burma, where they operated behind the Japanese lines, slashing enemy communications and cutting the supply lines of the Jap forces.

More than once, Cochran related, the situation was so tangled that while the Chindits held one end of an air strip, the Japs had control of the other, and a liaison plane pilot, flying out wounded, might be warned to turn right as he took off, because the Japs were on the left.

NEW STRATEGY OF NIPPONESE CAUSES ALARM

Japs Said to Have Concentrated 280,000 Troops To Pry Loose Hankow-Canton Railroad

PRESSURE INCREASING

BULLETIN

Chungking, June 2—(P)—The Chinese command asserted today that a Japanese column advancing on Changsha along the Canton-Hankow railroad had been halted, but that other units of the 280,000 enemy troops massed in the offensive have taken Pingliang, 50 miles northeast of the provincial capital.

Associated Press War Editor

The Japanese have concentrated 280,000 troops to pry the Chinese loose from the Hankow-Canton railroad and to clear the way for new blows elsewhere in China, a Chungking military spokesman said today.

In manifest alarm over Japan's widespread offensives in north-central and south China, Maj. Gen. CMC Tseng said the enemy had embarked on a new strategy: "As the Allies apply greater pressure against Japan, Japan will exert greater pressure against China."

Greater pressure against Japan seemed imminent in the central Pacific, on the strength of a three-day aerial offensive which took U. S. fliers to the Kuriles north of Japan, to Wake, Guam and the string of Caroline islands including Ponape and Truk.

A big battle was brewing along the Hankow-Canton line for possession of strategic Changsha in southeast China.

Tseng said 210,000 Japanese were concentrated near Hankow, 200 miles north of Changsha, while 70,000 were poised at Canton at the southern end of the railroad.

In the Honan province fighting to the northwest Chinese recaptured Sungshien, 45 miles south of Loyang.

Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault's headquarters confirmed a Japanese statement U. S. planes had attacked Peiping, China's ancient capital which is far northwest of the present fighting.

American Mustangs swept over 600 miles of the Hankow-Peiping railroad Tuesday, destroying or damaging 22 locomotives. The line supplies the Honan offensive.

In the Burma road battle, Chennault said.

He said that Rome was receiving "more considerate treatment" from air raiders.

CONVOY IS ATTACKED

By GLADWIN HILL

London, June 2—(AP)—Up to 1,500 American heavy bombers and fighters struck the heaviest single blow yet at the French invasion coast today and another great armada of 500-750 four-engine planes from Italy bombed five railway yards in Hungary and Transylvania.

Mediterranean air force headquarters reported "good" results in the assaults upon Miskolc, Szolnok and Szeged in eastern Hungary and upon Cluj and Simeria in Transylvania, the mountainous Romanian province which Germany ceded partly to Hungary in 1940.

In the Mediterranean strikes were in direct tactical support of the Russian armies massing in the Carpathian slopes. German troops and material had been funneled to the front over lines passing through the five tangled yards.

Eisenhower's invasion armies are massed and eager. The department extends 90 miles into the French interior and along 35 miles of the coast and contains (Turn to Page Twelve)

Socialists Hold Annual Convention

Reading, June 2—(P)—The Socialist party national convention opened today with a report from Harry Fleschman, its national secretary, asserting President Roosevelt has led a "steady retreat toward reaction" ever since his "plague on both your houses" statement during the 1937 little steel strike.

The Socialists, only left wing group planning a presidential ticket this year, convened for a three-day session, with indications pointing to renomination Sunday of its 1940 standard-bearer, Norman Thomas, 60-year-old veteran campaigner, and 39-year-old Maynard C. Krueger, professor of economics at the University of Chicago.

If he accepts, it will be Thomas' fifth straight presidential nomination by a minority party that polled its largest vote in 1932—nearly 900,000—but fell to 188,000 in 1936 and slightly more than 100,000 in 1940.

Letters to the Editor

6/1/44

Dear Mr. Walker:

I am a student in Warren High School. Thursday morning when we arrived at school, an assembly was called for Juniors and Sophomores. In this assembly was presented the resolution so recently passed by the school board. I am a member of one of the organizations referred to in that resolution. I think, as do many others, that this resolution is unfair. Why did the school board pass this resolution in the first place? No reasons have been given except for the statement that these organizations should be disbanded. But why should they be dissolved or disbanded? What reason the school board gives in answer to this question? They have done no wrong. They do not interfere with the schools in any manner. They are an out of school organization run on out of school time.

It was also stated in this assembly that the members of these organizations were represented as a minority in the number of students. How, then, can some people claim that this minority pushes its own members into school offices or into heading school activities; certainly anyone with sense knows that a minority doesn't rule and the whole school votes on who should hold these offices. Everyone gets a fair chance in dramatics, music, athletics and other activities.

These fraternities and sororities are organized for fellows and girls to get together and carry out their own ideas. We put on our own dances (which, by the way, are open to the public), figure out our own problems, make our own rules and constitutions, handle our own finances and learn how to do things in a business-like manner. We create our own amusements and have hikes, parties, banquets and in addition to these, each organization runs a summer camp for its members. We have worked long and hard for all these things and we see them all crumble without a good reason. We have always cooperated with school authorities before and we would like to cooperate with them once again if they would give us a chance.

The sororities have always helped in the sale of daisies by the Lions Club and also helped out on "Molly Pitcher" Day. All of these organizations try to help the community so we wish now the community would help us to try to show the school board how unfair they really are being about the whole thing.

Sincerely,
A DISGUSTED STUDENT.

ANOTHER BREACH OF LAW

The Nazis, hard-pressed for military manpower, have resorted to yet another breach of international law. Dr. Goebbels has invited German civilians to kill parachuting Allied flyers, and justified himself with some typical Nazi absurdity about Allied planes machine-gunning school children.

One unconfirmed report coming through Sweden said that it had started: that five parachuting Allied airmen had been killed. Berlin denials cut the figure to one, a "lynching" of an airman after churchgoers had been strafed, according to a Nazi radio announcement. True or not, it makes little difference.

This, like many other Goebbels pipedream, may backfire. It certainly has not stopped air activity over Germany, and will not. But it has again outraged civilization with another instance of Hitler's brutality. We shall not take the sort of counter-measures that have made the Nazi infamous. But a just vengeance is not retaliation. Each of these new measures of Nazi desperation will make any thought of a "soft" peace for Germany that much more unlikely.

PRAYER FOR INVASION DAY

In his capacity as president of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, Bishop Henry St. George Tucker has issued the following prayer to be used in all churches on "Invasion Day" and immediately thereafter:

"Almighty and most merciful God, Father of all mankind, lover of every life, hear, we beseech thee, the cry of thy children in this dark hour of conflict and danger. Thou hast been the refuge and strength, in all generations, of those who put their trust in thee. May it please thee this day to draw to thyself the hearts of those who struggle and endure to the utmost. Have mercy on them and suffer not their faith in thee to fail. Guide and protect them by thy light and strength that they may be kept from evil. May thy comfort be sufficient for all who suffer pain or who wait in the agony of uncertainty. O righteous and omnipotent God, in their tragedies and conflict, judge the hearts of men and the purposes of nations, enter into this struggle with thy transforming power, that out of its anguish there may come a victory of righteousness. May there arise a new order which shall endure because in it thy will shall be done in earth as it is in heaven. Forgive us and cleanse us, as well as those who strive against us, that we may be fit instruments of thy purposes. Unto thy most gracious keeping we commend our loved ones and ourselves, ascribing unto thee all praise and glory, through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen."

A WORTHY PROJECT

While struggling with foes from without, we must not forget one of the greatest within our country—crime.

This is the statement made by Allison D. Wade, judge of the Thirty-seventh Judicial District of Pennsylvania, in an eloquent appeal for funds on behalf of the National Probation Association in connection with its annual membership campaign. Judge Wade continues:

"You, like all public-spirited citizens of our community, are deeply concerned about the future of our country.

"We are engaged in the most desperate struggle of our history against foreign enemies. Regardless of cost we are resolved to win the war and the peace so that our American freedom may be maintained.

"At the same time we cannot afford to forget our domestic enemy—crime. Every year the country spends billions of dollars in guarding against crime and in dealing with confirmed offenders. But I believe the only way to make progress in crime prevention is to deal understandingly and constructively with every child and youthful beginner in delinquency.

"The National Probation Association works in conjunction with local authorities throughout the country in the development and improvement of probation services and juvenile courts to help our American boys and girls to become better men and women for the future. There never was a time when this work was more necessary than today.

"The Association cannot carry on this work without support and this can be secured only from those who recognize their responsibility to assist in the prevention and treatment of crime and delinquency."

Contributions should be made payable to the National Probation Association and sent to Mrs. Lenor C. Jordan, Court House, Warren.

The national officers of the Association are: Dr. Roscoe Pound, president; Judge George W. Smyth, vice president; Henry DeForest Baldwin, treasurer, and Charles L. Chute, executive director.

World Y. M. C. A. will be observed this coming weekend. Be sure and attend worship in some church.

Should the Voting Age Be Lowered to 18?

Dr. Joy Elmer Morgan
Editor, Journal of the National Education Association

Dr. Alfred P. Haake
Industrial Economist, Author, Lecturer

DR. MORGAN OPENS: I favor giving 18-year-olds the right to vote, enjoyed in ancient Greece during its golden age—now practiced in Mexico and Russia—recently extended to them by constitutional amendment in Georgia. The survival of democracy depends upon its ability to interest the majority of people in public affairs; to secure their honest and intelligent participation on behalf of the common welfare. Psychologists say the human mind matures at the age of 12 or 14; that after that judgment is developed by experience. Young people of 18 are far more familiar with public affairs than were men of 21 when the present rule was established. Education for citizenship in the schools has greatly improved. Young people finishing high school have an interest in public welfare use. If they wait several years before they can apply at the ballot box the knowledge gained, there is great loss of interest. Another reason of ordinary justice: Young men are drafted into the army to lay down their lives at 18. They should have a right to a voice in determining the policies of the nation for whose survival they fight and die. The ballot will eventually be extended to 18-year-olds because of the American sense of fair play—because democracy needs to develop to the full all its human resources.

DR. HAAKE CHALLENGES: The qualifications of a good voter are wisdom, applied knowledge and a sense of personal participation in the national life. High school does not establish these qualifications. They can only be established by applying book-learning to actual living as a responsible adult. More political problems are economic problems involving the property rights, group interests and personal freedom of endeavor. Adolescent interests are naturally outside of this scope and the theoretical knowledge received in school (particularly in the "progressive" schools) is no sound basis for the franchise. Last but not least, most 18-year-olds haven't the slightest interest in voting.

DR. MORGAN REPLIES: Whether one favors giving suffrage to 18-year-olds appears to depend largely on his faith in youth and in democracy. My faith in both is strong. It is based on long, wide experience with youth. Humanity has grown and fought its way step by step from "divine right of kings" and rule by the nobility. Suffrage has been gradually extended more and more widely against the opposition of those who feared to trust the people. But we can and must trust the people, all the people—it is our only hope.

DR. HAAKE OPENS: The law says any person under 21 is a "legal infant," not responsible for all his acts. Book-learning is not wisdom. Wisdom and sound judgment come of adult life. How many votes does Mr. Morgan believe Frank Sinatra would get from "teen-age girls"? Adolescent voting introduces a very serious problem into any nation, particularly if the educational system is under control of political administrators. This is the most direct route to military nationalism and totalitarianism. "Teen-age voters are easy pickings for 'planners,' 'dreamers' and 'Ministers from Utopia' as evidenced by the phenomenal political success of Hitler, Mussolini and Franco. Most adolescents know nothing of the problem of earning a living. They know nothing of the practical relationship of individual to government. Individual freedom is a matter that has never crossed their consciousness. They have never experienced taxation. They are, and quite rightly, interested in the social world about them, in sports, in clothing and in life. To those who believe that classroom knowledge, if studied conscientiously and applied to voting would have good results, let me suggest they examine the average textbooks on political science in current use in our high schools and judge for themselves whether action based on such knowledge would be beneficial.

DR. MORGAN CHALLENGES: Like others who draw their impressions from newspapers Dr. Haake greatly underestimates our youth of 18. Most of them—as their parents and teachers well know—are sound, serious, and deeply interested in their own future and the future of our country. Visit any night club and you will find more gray-headed folks than 18-year-olds. Dr. Haake fears that adding 18-year-old voters will upset the status quo. He forgets that you can't stop growth. Young people have one advantage. They are less afflicted than older people with the compromises and corruptions of our political life.

DR. HAAKE REPLIES: Dr. Morgan forgets that compromise is the lifeblood of democracy; it springs from mature judgment and tolerance, lacking in adolescents. The inability of "teen-age children to decide their actions is demonstrated by the frightening increase in juvenile delinquency since the war disrupted family supervision. It is desirable that children pursue adolescent interests. But a law declaring adolescents political adults will work no miracles in adolescent minds. It simply leaves them fertile soil for demagogues. America stands at the crossroads. The growing rift between property and unpropertyed classes must be healed if democracy is to survive. Sober adult judgment based on knowledge, experience and responsibility remain one big hope.

Tap Packet With Finger to Make Seed Drop Into Drill.

Way to sow seeds is to tear the end of the packet, and hold that by tapping it with the finger, seeds can be dropped the drill at the desired rate. all seeds are likely to be sown thickly by this method, though practice it can be controlled. As beet and Swiss chard, which are small to be handled singly, so large to be easily dropped by the fingers.

Beets and Swiss chard seeds look alike, but they are different. Beet seed being a type of beet seed, for its leaves, which are rich in vitamin A. They are large, irregular, and are not single seeds, but clusters. The germination of beet seeds is slow, and it takes about 10 to 15 days to develop. While beets may be thinned the first time after the roots have begun to thicken, and the entire thinned-out plants including the leaves, will make a delicious dish, the plants which are left to grow will suffer seriously from crowding so should have plenty of room to develop.

An aviation cadet who from here to there on a country flight finds it simple delightful to follow the tracks all the way. This is the iron beam. The fact that cadets are against it and the powers discourage it, it seems fairly common practice. The unpleasant obstacles, railroad, tunnel, which does not negotiate quite as does the S-b. If a cadet water route and sets his along a river, that is known as Flying the Wet Beam.

Sylvania Plant At Emporium Wins Honors

(Special to the Times-Mirror) Emporium, June 2—With informal ceremonies that permitted uninterrupted production of its electronic devices, Sylvania Electric Products Inc., Wednesday raised a new production award flag with a third star over the Radio Division plant here.

B. G. Erskine, chairman of the board of Sylvania, received the new honors—fourth from the U. S. Navy—after official notification was transmitted by Admiral C. C. Bloch, chairman of the Navy Board for Production Awards.

"This additional honor which you have won indicates your determination to supply our fighting forces with the materials needed to bring the war to a successful conclusion," wrote Admiral Bloch.

The original "E" award was accepted in a formal ceremony November 5, 1942; the first star was awarded March 25, 1943, and the second star on October 26, 1943.

Sylvania Electric Products, one of the world's leaders in radio tubes, incandescent and fluorescent lighting products and other electronic devices, has won Army-Navy "E" flags for excellence in production at five plants located at Williamsport and Emporium, Pa., and Salem and Danvers, Mass.

TIMES TOPICS

MAY STILL REGISTER

Mrs. Stuart Ferrin, Girl Reserve secretary of the local YWCA, calls attention of the girls to announcement that they may still enroll through the first of the week for the YW's stay-at-home camp which opens the following Monday, June 12, and continues for two one-week periods.

SAW WILD TURKEY

For the second time within a few weeks a report of a wild turkey being seen in this section comes to the attention of sportsmen here. One was sighted on Morrison Run some time ago by Harry Shawkey and the latest report is of one of the big bronze birds crossing a highway on Kinzua creek between Kane and Kinzua. There is a ban on shooting the birds and from indications they may be staging a comeback in this county.

MAY LOSE DOGS

Warren folks are evidently forgetting that there is a quarantine on dogs which will not expire for several months. Dog owners are getting careless and complaints are made that many dogs are running loose. If a dog owner should lose his dog he will only have himself to blame as the police are empowered to kill dogs on sight if they are running loose. Chief Haebl has instructed his men to act and they will do so. One mad dog was killed yesterday and there is no reason to feel that danger from an epidemic of the disease has passed.

COURT NEXT WEEK

Next Monday the regular term of Quarter Sessions Court will open at 10 a. m. with the Grand Jury reporting for duty. There are several cases to be considered and it is expected that there will be several cases heard. Following the jury trials it is expected that the group of youths in jail for the Johnson and Larason store robberies will be up for sentence as all have entered pleas of guilty. It is further expected that the matter of the purchase of the Schimmling property on Fourth avenue for extension of the Court House offices will also be placed before the Grand Jury for action.

GOOD RECORD MADE

Warren county is making a good record in the handling of its bond issues and never has there been a default on any issue, which keeps the county's credit in excellent shape. An orgy of spending for roads some years ago, the addition to the court house, etc., have all been in stride and if there is no unforeseen expense arising during the next four years the sinking fund arranged at the time of various bond issues will have the county free from debt by 1948. This is an excellent record and one that should be welcomed by all citizens as the millage has been kept down consistently despite the various alphabetical offices that have had to be financed by the commissioners.

VOICE

The Pennsylvania Grade Crude Oil Association has a good voice . . . not loud, not strident, not "oily", though it speaks exclusively of oil.

For twenty years the voice of the Pennsylvania Grade Crude Oil Association has spoken steadily to the motorists of the United States—and to jobbers and dealers—about 100% Pure Pennsylvania Motor Oils. We speak through advertisements in leading national magazines.

It has been a persuasive voice, inducing millions of car owners to try these oils, and the performance of these oils has been so satisfactory that "tryers" have become steady buyers of Pennsylvania Oils

Advertising is the Association's No. 1 activity . . . in the past . . . the present . . . and in the post-war days to come.

PENNSYLVANIA GRADE CRUDE OIL ASSOCIATION

Oil work is war work. Keep precious Pennsylvania Oils flowing to the fighting forces. They are as vital as food and ammunition.

LADY IN A WHIRL

By Esther Valck Georgins

Chapter 20

It WAS a perfect day—the sky was blue to be real, and the sun danced and dimpled in the air. Cora couldn't help but smile on such a day and she smiled softly as she hiked along. She was not built for hiking, however, and soon she was whistling in order to save breath.

The path became narrower and undergrowth more dense. She stopped for a minute to rest, and she saw a little yellow flower that grew beside the path, looking it would be nice to take it home to Zelda. She gathered the enormous bunch of them. The flowers had always seemed to be a little further on, and when she finished the bunch was much deeper in the woods than she had intended to go.

She stopped and tried to remember how she had got there. The path was to her left, and she struck out in that direction. After a few minutes of bad luck she had to admit she was lost.

Now she here, she told herself, it's not so bad. You can't get lost on a mountain. All you have to do is go down. If you go down, you're bound to come to the bottom of it.

But the going got worse, instead of better, and it was rough going through the bushes and all trees. She swerved from course to avoid an especially large tree and came out into comparatively clear space. She stopped to get her bearings. She spied an opening in the hills. It was evidently a cave, and going by the size of the entrance, a big one too. A thought flashed through her mind but she dismissed it. She had never heard of any nearby. I'll just peek inside, she thought.

IT WAS a big cave. Cora could stand upright in the entrance. She peered inside, the flowers clutched to her bosom. The interior was dusky, though, and it was a second or two before her eyes became adjusted to the gloom.

When they did she was surprised. Why it's nice, she thought, and stepped in. Then she stopped in amazement.

There was a pile of blankets on the floor, and reposing on top of them was a loaf of bread. There was also a brown paper carton containing more groceries, and beside it a battered coffee pot.

Most amazing of all, on a little ledge lay a safety razor and a tube of shaving cream.

"Well, of all things!" Cora exclaimed, and then froze with terror.

Someone or something had moved in the darkness at the back of the cave!

For a second she was incapable of movement, then she turned with a wild leap was out of the cave and tearing down the mountain.

Cora still carried Zelda's bouquet, but she cared little now whether it got muddled or not. She barged through the bushes, banged into trees, fell and scrambled up again. Briars ripped at her clothes and her stockings were riddled. Her hair slid over her left ear, and in a moment of her collisions with a hemlock her glasses became bent so that one lens was tipped almost at right angles to the other.

Lack of breath and sheer physical exhaustion stopped her finally. She slowed, looked wildly over her shoulder, and finding that she was not pursued, stopped and leaned against a tree. She was gasping for breath, and now she began to hiccup.

She rested there a moment, glancing fearfully around her, but nothing or no one appeared, so after a little she started out again. She had only gone a short distance when she came out onto the path.

"Thank the Lord," she said fervently. "At least I know where I am." She hurried along, hiccoughing as she went.

And then she saw the count.

He was coming up the path. Cora was above him and could see him plainly but she doubted that he could see her even if he looked up, which he did not do. Above all people, she did not want to meet the count just then.

She stopped and looked around for a place to hide until he got past. She did not want to get too far off the path. She had got into trouble enough already that way.

Chapter 21

THE COUNT stopped. He bearded up the trail and down trail, and to both sides. Then he scanned the branches over his head. He looked uneasy but went on. As soon as he was out of sight he left his hiding place and tried down the path toward the house.

He burst out of the woods behind the cottage like a frightened animal, startling Pete who was sitting where he had left him. He opened his pipe.

"What is the matter with you?" demanded, jumping up.

Pete! Thank heaven! I thought never see home again," Cora said. "The most terrible thing! It's something or somebody in the cave. I was never so scared in my life! I got lost—the count."

"Here! Here!" Pete grabbed her by the shoulders and shook her gently. "Get yourself together. I stop hiccoughing."

"I can't," she told him.

"Hold your breath," he advised. "I took the frayed bouquet and blew it in the brook. Then he moved her glasses, straightened them as best he could and put them back on her nose. "Pir. up your hair," he commanded.

Then, between hiccoughs, he begged to give a fairly lucid account of what had happened. "It does sound sort of queer," he admitted, when she had finished. "But likely it's just a super up there."

But the count? What was he up to that way carrying a cage?"

Damned if I know. But look, I'll go where that cave is. I'll go and take a look at it tomorrow. You go change your clothes," he told her. "It's almost lunch time as she started towards

LADY IN A WHIRL

By Esther Valck Georgins

Chapter 20

It WAS a perfect day—the sky was blue to be real, and the sun danced and dimpled in the air. Cora couldn't help but smile on such a day and she smiled softly as she hiked along. She was not built for hiking, however, and soon she was whistling in order to save breath.

The path became narrower and undergrowth more dense. She stopped for a minute to rest, and she saw a little yellow flower that grew beside the path, looking it would be nice to take it home to Zelda. She gathered the enormous bunch of them. The flowers had always seemed to be a little further on, and when she finished the bunch was much deeper in the woods than she had intended to go.

She stopped and tried to remember how she had got there. The path was to her left, and she struck out in that direction. After a few minutes of bad luck she had to admit she was lost.

Now she here, she told herself, it's not so bad. You can't get lost on a mountain. All you have to do is go down. If you go down, you're bound to come to the bottom of it.

But the going got worse, instead of better, and it was rough going through the bushes and all trees. She swerved from course to avoid an especially large tree and came out into comparatively clear space. She stopped to get her bearings. She spied an opening in the hills. It was evidently a cave, and going by the size of the entrance, a big one too. A thought flashed through her mind but she dismissed it. She had never heard of any nearby. I'll just peek inside, she thought.

IT WAS a big cave. Cora could stand upright in the entrance. She peered inside, the flowers clutched to her bosom. The interior was dusky, though, and it was a second or two before her eyes became adjusted to the gloom.

When they did she was surprised. Why it's nice, she thought, and stepped in. Then she stopped in amazement.

There was a pile of blankets on the floor, and reposing on top of them was a loaf of bread. There was also a brown paper carton containing more groceries, and beside it a battered coffee pot.

Most amazing of all, on a little ledge lay a safety razor and a tube of shaving cream.

"Well, of all things!" Cora exclaimed, and then froze with terror.

Someone or something had moved in the darkness at the back of the cave!

For a second she was incapable of movement, then she turned with a wild leap was out of the cave and tearing down the mountain.

Cora still carried Zelda's bouquet, but she cared little now whether it got muddled or not. She barged through the bushes, banged into trees, fell and scrambled up again. Briars ripped at her clothes and her stockings were riddled. Her hair slid over her left ear, and in a moment of her collisions with a hemlock her glasses became bent so that one lens was tipped almost at right angles to the other.

Lack of breath and sheer physical exhaustion stopped her finally. She slowed, looked wildly over her shoulder, and finding that she was not pursued, stopped and leaned against a tree. She was gasping for breath, and now she began to hiccup.

She rested there a moment, glancing fearfully around her, but nothing or no one appeared, so after a little she started out again. She had only gone a short distance when she came out onto the path.

"Thank the Lord," she said fervently. "At least I know where I am." She hurried along, hiccoughing as she went.

And then she saw the count.

He was coming up the path. Cora was above him and could see him plainly but she doubted that he could see her even if he looked up, which he did not do. Above all people, she did not want to meet the count just then.

She stopped and looked around for a place to hide until he got past. She did not want to get too far off the path. She had got into trouble enough already that way.

Young Men of 17

May again join the Air Corps Enlisted Reserve

ENLISTMENT in the Air Corps Enlisted Reserve is once more open to qualified young Americans . . . who want to win their wings on the "greatest team in the world"—an AAF air combat crew.

In April, thanks to the air-mindedness of America's youth, the AAF's personnel program was well ahead of schedule. More than enough men were in training, and in the Air Corps Enlisted Reserve, to meet scheduled quotas for combat crews. At the same time, the need for men in other branches of the army was urgent. Therefore, opportunities to join the AAF—including the 17-year-old Enlisted Reserve—were suspended.

As the Commanding General pointed out, the suspension of enlistments in the Reserve was intended only as a temporary measure. Accordingly, effective June 1, enlistments have again been opened in the 17-year-old Enlisted Reserve in order to insure a sufficient number of qualified individuals for training this fall.

The AAF is a Team

Today, the AAF is the largest, most powerful air force in the world. Fighting side by side with the planes of our Navy and our Allies, it has won control of the air in every theatre—and has carried the war to the military and industrial hearts of Germany and Japan. It is daring the enemy to "come up and fight." Yet its losses have been less than anyone had anticipated or even dared to hope.

That all this has been accomplished is due, in large measure, to the fact that the

AAF air combat crew is more than just planes and men. The combat crew is a team . . . the greatest fighting team the world has ever seen . . . with Gunners, Bombardiers, Navigators and Pilots flying and fighting together, to win.

And any young man who wants AAF wings should keep this ideal of teamwork uppermost in his mind. It is the key to AAF successes in battle. It will be the key to his own success in the AAF.

If you want to fly with the AAF, you may apply at any AAF Examining Board for enrollment in the Air Corps Enlisted Reserve. Upon passing the preliminary qualifying physical and mental tests, you will become a member of the U. S. Army Air Forces—on inactive duty. This means that you will not be called for training until you have reached your 18th birthday. If you are at work you may remain on the job until you are 18. If you are in high school, you may elect to finish the semester you are in when you become 18. If you are a high school graduate, not over 17 years and 9 months, you may elect to take advantage of the Army Specialized Training Reserve Program, which provides free college training for men approaching military age.

When called, you will first be given "basic" training. During this period, you will take "aptitude" tests to determine whether you will be classified for training as Gunner, Bombardier, Navigator or Pilot.

Your Place on the AAF Team

If you have an outstandingly high aptitude rating for a particular position, you may be given an opportunity to compete for the classification that you prefer. But it is important to remember that all jobs on the AAF team are vitally important . . . that air combat crews not only are chosen from the very cream of the nation's young men, but that each seat in every plane must be filled by the man best qualified to fill it.

Gunners go into actual combat as non-commissioned officers. In addition to being the world's best aerial marksmen, gunners may qualify as trained technicians—in radio, armament or airplane mechanics. Pilots, Navigators, and Bombardiers are graduated from training as 2nd Lieutenants or Flight Officers.

Your job, and your rank, in the AAF will depend upon your own demonstrated abilities. For full information as to qualifying for the Air Corps Enlisted Reserve, see your nearest AAF Examining Board or local Army Recruiting Station.

For Pre-Aviation Training

Whether or not you have yet reached 17, you can begin now to prepare yourself to qualify for the Air Corps Enlisted Reserve. See your local Civil Air Patrol officers about C.A.P. Cadet Training . . . also see your High School principal or adviser about recommended courses in the Air Service Division of the High School Victory Corps. Both offer excellent pre-aviation training . . . and help point the way to AAF wings.

Yankee Spearhead Drives Two Miles Beyond Velletri

slashed was not disclosed by head quarters.
 The British and French to the southeast squeezed tighter up the highway, and the French seized Ponte Di Morolo, three miles below the famous road, west of Frosinone.

Along the coastal flank of the battle for Rome, naval guns again supported the British push, bombarding enemy batteries near Ardea with successful results.

The first United States troops struck into Velletri at 5:15 p. m. yesterday and on their march into the town square captured 19 prisoners. Associated Press War Correspondent Daniel De Luce reported from the front.

Headquarters said the Americans who penetrated the German Val-Montone-Velletri line to 2,600-foot Monte Artemisio have "established themselves" but are now battering against strong enemy defense points. Americans on this and other heights now are fighting in view of Rome.

Eastward other Fifth Army troops cut a two-mile section of the railway in the Ardena-Valmontone area, and threw pounding pressure on the Hermann Goerring division astride the Via Cassilina in that sector.

The enemy threw fierce artillery barrages against these Allied forces but some gains were made. The Germans were said still to be throwing every available man into the defense along the 25-mile line from Valmontone to the sea. Parachute troops have been identified in the Velletri area. Elsewhere the Nazis were said to be using such non-combatant forces as company butchers and horse tenders.

West of the Eighth Army push toward Frosinone, a French advance threatened to cut in behind the fleeing German line.

Northeast of Frosinone, above the highway, Eighth Army troops drove to the neighborhood of Verlo despite anti-tank gunfire at the Allied armor.

Post-War Peace Agency Discussed

Washington, June 2—(P)—Secretary of State Hull today extended to the house his campaign for congressional support of a post-war peace agency, conferring with four Democratic and three Republican leaders on his plans for American participation.

The hour-long meeting at the state department was the latest in a series of post-war international planning developments which yesterday disclosed Hull as apparently determined to reinforce his aims for a security organization with the ideal of liberty "for aspiring peoples everywhere" and equality for all small nations.

BULLETINS

Barcelona, Spain, June 2—(P)—Reports from Andorra said today that a group of 34 American and Allied fliers being guided to the Spanish frontier by Patriots had been ambushed by German border guards and that only two Americans and one French aviator escaped alive into Spain.

Baltimore, June 2—(P)—James J. Laughlin, Washington attorney who has figured prominently in the sedition trial now in progress at the capital, was indicted today by a federal grand jury on two charges of attempting to obstruct and impede the administration of justice.

Washington, June 2—(P)—President Roosevelt indicated today that an unusual army camp in this country may be converted into a temporary haven for war refugees from abroad.

London, June 2—(P)—A Cairo communique said an important German convoy was attacked in the central Aegean Sea north of Crete yesterday and that four ships were left burning and others were damaged.

Chicago, June 2—(P)—Four of the nation's leading meat packing firms—Armour, Swift, Wilson and Cudahy—were named defendants in civil injunction suits filed today by the OPA to restrain them from selling pork cuts containing amounts of fat exceeding OPA regulations.

Barcelona, Spain, June 2—(P)—French advisers said today that the entire Limoges district of central France was gripped by fratricidal war with 7,000 patriots holding at bay nearly 5,000 Vichy militiamen in a prolonged battle for a main line railroad town.

Around the Nation's Capital

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Take the word
of a lot of government officials
and don't believe everything
you hear.

The most recent proof of this fact, was that most of those behind it, Rep. Sol Bloom (Dem., N. Y.), chairman of the House committee on foreign affairs, had asked Foreign Economic Administrator Leo T. Crowley a batch
of questions about Lend-Lease.
Practically all had to do with rumors that Lend-Lease was the economic "goat" in a good many deals that now are being transacted between the United States
and our allies.

WHAT Mr. Crowley said, in effect, was that most of those rumors about Lend-Lease being
the economic sucker were dreamed up by Nazi propagandists to create dissension in Allied ranks. Then, one by one, he took up some of the major rumors and branded them as outright lies.

I haven't the space to report
them all, but among them were stories that we are giving the British Lease-Lend gasoline at two cents a gallon which they are reselling to our own forces in Britain at 42 cents a gallon; that the British are relabelling Lend-Lease goods and reselling them
to South America; that alcohol
sent to Britain is converted into whisky and resold to this country

at a fabulous profit; that North Africans are getting huge quantities of diaper cloth and nylon hose under Lend-Lease while the folks at home can't get a stitch;
that the Russians are trading Lend-Lease U. S. planes for Japanese rubber and using Lend-
Lease butter to grease their boots.
The list is endless.

I HAVE followed Lend-Lease
since its inception. I have never talked to a minor or major official who didn't think some inconsistencies couldn't creep in,
but I've never talked to one
either who didn't feel that it would be impossible to conceive
of any administrator approving
an expenditure that couldn't be explained on real merit.

What government officials here
will admit privately is that when billions are being thrown around
in an all-out war effort, some funds will drift into the palms of grafters. But in the case of Lend-Lease, they insist, very little of it goes that way.

If there is any doubt of that,
look at the voting record of Congress on Lend-Lease funds. In Congress no opportunity is overlooked to make political capital of administration errors. Lend-Lease has come in for its share of criticism but when the chips are down
these day, few of the 530-odd
members of the House and Senate are willing to record their votes in the "Nays" column.

The term "iron horse" for steam
locomotives was coined by Sitting Bull, Sioux Indian chief.

Drastic Rule On Hiring Men Is Laid Down

The United States Employment
Bureau of the War Manpower
Commission has issued a drastic
rule effective July 1 relative to hiring of men. The rule requires that any employer wishing to hire any male worker must do so through the Manpower Commission. By this method workers must stay in jobs where they are most needed.
The matter of employment is a serious one in the face of the dire

need now for war supplies as the biggest demand of the war is just ahead. There is seemingly a growing feeling that the end of the war
is in sight and it is to cope with this that the order has been issued.
The failure of congress to pass the
bill requiring men to work or fight
has also called for the application of the order which will place more
and more men in essential industry.

Recruitment programs of an intensified nature to transfer workers from loose labor markets to critical areas to meet the manpower shortage is also to be undertaken.

FIFTH ARMY ASTRIDE VIA CASILINA ROAD

Yankee Spearhead Drives Two Miles Beyond Velletri

While Americans Battle on Heights In Sight of Rome, British Pound Highway to Penetrate Important City of Ferentino

KEY FORTRESS ON APPIAN WAY IS ENCIRCLED

By SID FEDER

Allied Headquarters, Naples, June 2—(AP)—Strong U. S. tank and infantry forces were astride the famed Via Casilina barely 20 miles from Rome today—sealing off the main escape route from the Germans' crumbling southern front—and other Americans spread out through the Alban hills after piercing the Nazis' final line below the city.

Fifth Army troops broke into Velletri in the center, on the Appian Way 18 miles from Rome, fighting fiercely in the streets against the cut-off enemy garrison. Beyond the by-passed town, U. S. infantry battled on the Alban heights within sight of the Eternal City.

Americans severed the Via Casilina near Valmontone, and the heavily punished Hermann Goering armored division now is fighting a rear guard action farther north and west, a battlefront dispatch said.

The Eighth Army—pounding up the road the Nazis fought so fiercely to maintain as an escape hatch for their mauled divisions—nearly reached Ferentino, leaving only 18 miles of the highway in enemy hands, and French forces closed in from the west. There was no confirmation here, however, for an Algiers broadcast that Canadians had entered Ferentino, junction of one of the few remaining branch roads to good highways farther east.

U. S. infantrymen drove into Velletri yesterday. All the Germans' escape routes from the town and vicinity have been sealed off. This force had snarled beyond Velletri and seized the dominating heights of Mts. Pescio and Artemio, catching the Germans by surprise.

The exact point below Valmontone where the highway was severed was disclosed today.

Army Mitchell's from the Nimetz theater ripped into the defenses of Ponape in the eastern Carolines. At Truk, 440 miles beyond, fires which could be seen for 150 miles and bombers from the MacArthur theater made a light stab from the Admiralty Islands.

Other Admiralty-based planes struck 190 miles west at Alet island airdrome and far into the western Carolines at Woleai.

Central Pacific Army Liberators from Eniwetok gave Guam its third land-based pounding since Japan wrested that Marianas island from the Americans. They fought off 10 enemy fighters, probably downing one, without loss.

Wake, the former American base which a carrier task force virtually immobilized May 23, was hit by central Pacific Army Liberators which had to contend only with moderate anti-aircraft fire.

SIGNIFICANT BLOWS AIMED AT JAPANESE

ALL ARE BACK SAFELY

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters Pearl Harbor, June 2—(P)—A giant Pacific triangular area was dotted by bomb craters today—across 1,000 miles of the Carolines, north to Guam, then beyond Japan in the frigid Kuriles and back to Wake—as the consequence of coordinate blows by American bombers from three war theaters.

In operations unprecedented for their swift extent, bombers from the southwest and central Pacific combed the Carolines; Central Pacific planes flew the 1,200 miles to Guam; other central Pacific bombers pounded Wake; and Aleutian-based planes struck the Kuriles. All planes returned safely from these hazardous operations.

These blows were massed from Sunday through Tuesday and yesterday.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Adm. Chester W. Nimitz.

All-Out Assault On Biak Mapped

By ROBERT EUNSON

Advanced Allied Headquarters, New Guinea, June 2—(P)—Massing of American reinforcements for an all-out assault on Biak Island in the Schoutens and pincer moves aimed at trapping Japanese on two other fronts were announced today.

Under Seventh Fleet guns and without enemy aerial or naval interference, more Yanks landed on Tuesday at Biak, enemy air base in Dutch New Guinea's Geelvink Bay, which was invaded Saturday. As they moved up from the Bosnek beachhead, aircraft and ground fighters hammered at Japanese sniper and mortar positions on ridges commanding the beach for several miles and the coastal road leading to the island's three airdromes.

WMC Issues Drastic Orders

REGULATIONS CHANNEL ALL MALE LABOR

Virtually Every Job-Seeker Will Be Required to Apply to Federal Service for Assignment

ON NATION-WIDE BASIS

Washington, June 2—(P)—Sweeping new controls over the nation's dwindling supply of male workers were ordered today by the War Manpower Commission to be placed in effect by July 1.

They provide that virtually every job-seeking man in America will be required to apply to the United States Employment Service for assignment to the war plant where he is most needed, regardless of where that plant may be located. Employers, on the other hand, will be permitted to hire only those men referred to them by the USES.

"The successful conduct of the war now requires the channeling of all available male labor in the nation to jobs of greatest war production urgency, and the retention of such labor in those jobs," War Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt declared in announcing the new program.

It extends on a nation-wide basis the WMC's voluntary program already in effect in about a dozen areas of critical labor shortage.

Farm workers are not restricted nor are businesses with eight or less employees.

McNutt said one of the principal difficulties in recruiting men for war jobs and retaining them is "over-optimism with respect to an early ending of the war"—this causing workers to look for peacetime employment.

McNutt explained that while the program is on a voluntary basis, sanctions can be imposed in cases of non-compliance. He said workers who refuse to cooperate would find it difficult without a clearance slip to get a job, while employers who do not participate will not have workers referred to them.

Industries most in need of "strong male labor" at present, McNutt asserted, are foundries and forge shops, rubber and tire production, ship repair, logging and lumbering. Similar acute shortages, he added, are developing in such fields as textile manufacturing, coal mining and electronic equipment.

While the WMC order instructs each regional manpower director to put the plan into effect by July 1, McNutt said it could be adopted earlier by any area wishing to do so.

World YMCA Sunday Will Be Observed In Local Churches

This coming Sunday will be World Y. M. C. A. Sunday, and the Warren churches, through the cooperation of the Ministerial Association, will appropriately observe the occasion in the regular morning services. Sunday will open the 100th Anniversary Week of the Y. M. C. A. as a world movement.

To strengthen a historic bond between the Y. M. C. A. and the church, most of the local ministers have arranged for one or more features in connection with the morning service. In most churches the front and back pages of the Sunday or bulletin, will be devoted exclusively to interesting material relative to the world movement of the Y. M. C. A., as well as the local work of the association.

Nine of the churches have asked for boys or young men of the Y. M. C. A. membership to give brief statements concerning the "Y" Centennial with emphasis on its significance for youth. The churches and speakers are:

First Presbyterian, Robert Wilder; First Methodist, Dean Blair; Grace Methodist, William Erickson; First Baptist, Richard Harris; First Lutheran, William Yeager, Jr.; Trinity Memorial Episcopal, Nick Geraci; First Evangelical, Ted Shattuck; Salem Evangelical, Charles Sires; St. Paul's Lutheran, Gary Davis.

In some churches the pastors will make supplemental statements, or preach sermons on appropriate themes.

With only the weekend remaining before the principal celebration locally of the Y. M. C. A. Centennial, those who wish to participate in the Second Century Day dinner next Tuesday evening are strongly urged by the chairman, R. W. Steber, to get in their reservations to the "Y" office without further delay.

The big feature of the occasion will be an address by the Honorable Gustav L. Schramm, judge of the Orphans Court of Allegheny county, Pittsburgh, Judge Schramm (Turn to Page Twelve)

Col. Cochran In Capital To Make Report

Washington, June 2—(P)—The War Department announced today that Col. Philip G. Cochran, commanding officer of the First Air Commando Force, which flew the British Chindits into Burma and then supplied them by air, has returned to Washington to report to Gen. H. H. Arnold, commanding general, army air forces.

"We have only scratched the surface of the possibility of moving armies by air," said Cochran in an enthusiastic report on the bold airborne invasion of central Burma. Cochran, whose home is at 1052 W. Ninth street, Erie, Pa., was accompanied by Lt. Col. Arvid E. Olson, Chicago, operations officer of the First Commando Air Force, and Lt. Col. Grant Mahony, Vallejo, Calif., chief of its lighter section. All three will go on leave shortly.

Cochran's force operated from February 1 to May 20, flying the late Maj. Gen. Orde C. Wingate's Chindits into Burma, where they operated behind the Japanese lines, slashing enemy communications and cutting the supply lines of the Jap forces.

More than once, Cochran related, the situation was so tangled that while the Chindits held one end of an air strip, the Japs had control of the other, and a liaison plane pilot, flying out wounded, might be warned to turn right as he took off, because the Japs were on the left.

Political Spotlight Is On Dem Convention In Maryland

By the Associated Press

With House Speaker Sam Rayburn (Tex.) scheduled for a keynote address, a group of Democratic leaders sought at the Maryland convention today to name an 18-vote uninstructed delegation to give the state a hand in the selection of a vice presidential candidate at the party's national convention.

Rayburn, who has been mentioned as a second place choice if President Roosevelt seeks a fourth term, was called upon for a "harmony" talk in a meeting where all factions apparently wanted to prevent any outcropping of anti-Roosevelt sentiment.

The Maryland meeting vied for attention with a gathering of Indiana Republicans to complete that state's slate of 29 GOP delegates and to pick nominees for governor and senator.

NEW STRATEGY OF NIPPONESE CAUSES ALARM

Japs Said to Have Concentrated 280,000 Troops To Pry Loose Hankow-Canton Railroad

PRESSURE INCREASING

BULLETIN

Chungking, June 2—(P)—The Chinese command asserted today that a Japanese column advancing on Changsha along the Hankow-Canton railroad had been halted, but that other units of the 280,000 enemy troops massed in the offensive have taken Pingkiang, 50 miles northeast of the provincial capital.

By J. B. KRUEGER

Associated Press War Editor

The Japanese have concentrated 280,000 troops to pry the Chinese loose from the Hankow-Canton railroad and to clear the way for new blows elsewhere in China, a Chungking military spokesman said today.

In manifest alarm over Japan's widespread offensives in north-central and south China, Maj. Gen. CMC. Tseng said the enemy had embarked on a new strategy: "As the Allies apply greater pressure against Japan, Japan will exert greater pressure against China."

Greater pressure against Japan seemed imminent in the central Pacific, on the strength of a three-day aerial offensive which took U. S. fliers to the Kuriles north of Japan, to Wake, Guam and the string of Caroline islands including Ponape and Truk.

A big battle was brewing along the Hankow-Canton line for possession of strategic Changsha in southeast China.

Tseng said 210,000 Japanese were concentrated near Hankow, 200 miles north of Changsha, while 70,000 were poised at Canton at the southern end of the railroad.

In the Honan province fighting to the northwest Chinese captured Sunghien, 45 miles south of Loyang.

Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault's headquarters confirmed a Japanese statement U. S. planes had attacked Peiping, China's ancient capital which is far northwest of the present fighting.

American Mustangs swept over 600 miles of the Hankow-Peiping railroad Tuesday, destroying or damaging 22 locomotives. The line supplies the Honan offensive.

Freight Derailed On PRR Near Titusville

Titusville, June 2—(P)—The engine and nine cars of a Pennsylvania Railroad freight train were derailed on a bridge here today when the 35-car train struck a workcar.

George Niedbals, 56, Diamond, Pa., was injured when he jumped from the bridge as two cars toppled 25 feet into Oil Creek.

Traffic was rerouted through Irvine and Corry.

CALAIS AREA IS BOMBED BY MIGHTY FORCE

R. A. F. Concentrates on Southwest French Rail Yards During the Night

CONVOY IS ATTACKED

By GLADWIN HILL

London, June 2—(AP)—Up to 1,500 American heavy bombers and fighters struck the heaviest single blow yet at the French invasion coast today and another great armada of 500-750 four-engine planes from Italy bombed five railway yards in Hungary and Transylvania.

Mediterranean air force headquarters reported "good" results in the assaults upon Miskolc, Szolnok and Szeged in eastern Hungary and upon Cluj and Simeria in Transylvania, the mountainous Romanian province which Germany ceded partially to Hungary in 1940.

In the Mediterranean strikes were in direct tactical support of the Russian armies massing in the Carpathian slopes. German troops and material had been funneled to the front over lines passing through the five tangled yards.

The Britain-based planes struck the Pas-de-Calais department of France and reported no sign of German fighter opposition.

Before dawn, Allied fliers struck over 2,000 miles of airways from Scandinavia to France and from Hungary to Crete.

The Pas-de-Calais section, probably the most intensively bombed area in the world for its size, is a scant 25 miles across the channel from England where Gen. Eisenhower's invasion armies are massed and eager. The department extends 90 miles into the French interior and along 35 miles of the coast and contains (Turn to Page Twelve)

Socialists Hold Annual Convention

Reading, June 2—(P)—The Socialist party national convention opened today with a report from Harry Fleischman, its national secretary, asserting President Roosevelt has led a steady retreat toward "reaction" ever since his "plague on both your houses" statement during the 1937 little steel strike.

The Socialists, only left wing group planning a presidential ticket this year, convened for a three-day session, with indications pointing to renomination Sunday of its 1940 standard-bearer, Norman Thomas, 60-year-old veteran campaigner and 39-year-old Maynard C. Krueger, professor of economics at the University of Chicago.

If he accepts, it will be Thomas' fifth straight presidential nomination by a minority party that polled its largest vote in 1932—nearly 900,000—but fell to 188,000 in 1936 and slightly more than 100,000 in 1940.

Prizes Are Awarded At Final Session At Beatty Building

At Beatty Junior High School this morning, the final assembly for the year was held for the graduating class and the term prizes were awarded.

Ralph Wagner, general secretary of the YMCA and speaking for the Presbyterian church, presented the church award of $25 each to JoAnn Phillips and Wilmer Lattshaw.

Burgess R. W. Steber gave a very interesting and inspiring talk to the group, after which he presented Silver "B's" to these pupils: Henry Bliet, William Fliethart, Olga Glassman, Marjorie Gnagey, Karl Gossman, Rachel Johnson, Richard Kerr, Betty Jean Kolpien, Harry Kridler, Lewis Lowe, Geraldine Peterson, Alan Schuler, Walter Thurn, Janet Tritt and Martha Winans.

Glenn Stone, commander of Chief Complanter Post No. 135, American Legion, extended the best wishes of that organization and awarded the Legion Medal to Alan Schuler. Mrs. Fred Abendroth, chairman of the Americanism committee of the Legion Auxiliary, presented that unit's award to Sophie Spiridon.

Ruth Kaebnick, editor of the Beatty Torch, presented Torch awards to James Albright, Robert Blair, Betsy Conaway, Doris Danielson, Neil DeStefano, JoAnn Finley, Teresa Fino, Mary Fischer, Margy Hanna, Eugene Lucia, Ronald Massa, Elmer Mellander, Doug Messner, Joyce Minter, Audrey Myers, Evelyn Peterson, Geraldine Peterson, Carol Phillips, Charlie Regner, Beverly Simons, Elsie Walker, Jeanne Way, Don Wood, Lois Peterson, Lorna Mae Hulings, Jeanne Peterson and Jeanne Zeiders.

Prizes for first and second place in the Short Story Contest went to Sophie Spiridon and Rita Scrivan, and winners of the Poetry Contest were Frank Coxson and Jack Kyler.

Ally troops were within fighting sight of Rome as American troops drove deep wedges into the German lines near Valmontone and outflanked Lanuvio in the Alban Hills south of the Eternal City. British troops have captured Frosinone, bitterly defended city of 20,000 on strategic Highway 6.

MAD DOG SHOT

Police officers yesterday removed a mad dog from a city home last evening. The animal was located in a room on the second floor and the officers had to exercise much ingenuity to capture the animal without being bitten as the dog was vicious. Finally its head was caught in a door and the apparatus possessed by the police to handle such cases was adjusted and the dog removed to a spot where it could be shot. Whether or not the head of the animal will be sent away has not been decided but the rabies symptoms were so pronounced that it is not expected that it will be.

In the current issue of the Sylvania Beam, publication devoted to the interests of the Sylvania employees there is a drawing of the plant addition in this city. ## RIVER ROSE SLIGHTLY

Due to the heavy rain storms that raged both north and east of the city on Wednesday night the creek and river both rose slightly. The creek waters were discolored with mud and silt and bore much of this to the river. The gauge today showed the river to have risen nine-tenths of a foot from yesterday. The wire gauge recently placed in the river enables the observer to read the river stages at a more accurate manner.

TICKETS ON SALE

Tickets were placed on sale for the annual recital of the Williams School of Dancing which will be held in the Woman's Club June 28th. The entire balcony will be reserved as from this vantage point the dancing of those taking part can be observed much better than from the main floor level. Reserved seats must be secured at the studio as the children are selling only general admission tickets.

NO MAIL HOLD-UP

During the past few days many who have relatives with the U. S. forces in England have been besieging the post office with inquiries as to whether or not the travel ban from England applies to mail. The post office advises that the mail is coming through with no interruption. The strict censorship is undoubtedly taking more time in moving mail and having the effect of slowing its arrival in this country to some extent.

D-DAY NOTICE

As some time has elapsed since the County Ministerial Association arranged for the observance of D-Day here, it is asked that attention again be called to the fact that ringing of the church bells will give notice and if at night the churches will open for prayer service at 10:30 the following morning. The Times-Mirror will receive the word at any hour of the day or night and the ringing of the bells will follow. If the alarm comes during the day, the services will open one-half hour later.

Letters to the Editor

6/1/44

Dear Mr. Walker:

I am a student in Warren High School. This morning when we arrived at school, an assembly was called for Juniors and Sophomores. In this assembly was presented the resolution so recently passed by the school board.

I am a member of one of the organizations referred to in that resolution. I think as do many others, that this resolution is unfair. Why did the school board pass this resolution in the first place? No reasons have been given except for the statement that these organizations should be disbanded. But why should they be disbanded or disorganized? What reason the school board gives in answer to this question? They have done no wrong. They do not interfere with the schools in any manner. They are an out of school organization run on out of school time.

It was also stated in this assembly that the members of these organizations were represented as a minority in the number of students. How, then, can some people claim that this minority pushes its own members into school offices or into heading school activities; certainly anyone with sense knows that a minority doesn't rule and the whole school votes on who should hold these offices. Everyone gets a fair chance in dramatics, music, athletics and other activities. These fraternities and sororities are organized for fellows and girls to get together and carry out their own ideas. We put on our own dances (which, by the way, are open to the public), figure out our own problems, make our own rules and constitutions, handle our own finances and learn how to do things in a business-like manner. We create our own amusements and have hikes, parties, banquets and in addition to these, each organization runs a summer camp for its members. We have worked long and hard for all these things and we to see them all crumble without a good reason. We have always cooperated with school authorities before and we would like to cooperate with them once again if they would give us a chance.

The sororities have always helped in the sale of daisies by the Lions Club and also helped out on "Molly Pitcher" Day. All of these organizations try to help the community so we wish now the community would help us to try to show the school board how unfair they really are being about the whole thing.

Sincerely,

A DISGUSTED STUDENT.

Wac Receives Same Pay As Army Private

Women in the Women's Army Corps receive Army pay, the same as men in the service. A WAC private gets $50.00 in cash every month, all clear. Her food, lodging and clothing are supplied free. WACs have just been issued snappy new tropical worsted uniforms with caps to match. Later this summer as optional off-duty outfits they may buy at cost, special new rayon shantung uniforms styled by fashion experts. WACs get all medical and dental services free. They receive all the extra benefits that men in the Army receive... such as life insurance at Army rates, free mail, furlough rates on railroad tickets, Government prices at post exchanges and special rates at movies and theaters.

After the war they will be entitled to mustering out pay and any bonuses that may be forthcoming. WAC pay increases with each step-up in rank. WACs with soldier husbands continue to receive dependency allotments.

There are many opportunities in the Army for women, you may now choose not only your post in the Service Command in which you live, but also your job and branch of service. S/Sgt. Mary Louise Gravel, of the WAC Recruiting Office at Erie, will be in Warren, Wednesday, June 7th at the Y.W.C.A. Don't miss this chance to help our fighting men when they need you most, and to be a part of our Army when the war is won.

ANOTHER BREACH OF LAW

The Nazis, hard-pressed for military manpower, have resorted to yet another breach of international law. Dr. Goebbels has invited German civilians to kill parachuting Allied flyers, and justified himself with some typical Nazi absurdity about Allied planes machine-gunning school children.

One unconfirmed report coming through Sweden said that it had started: that five parachuting Allied airmen had been killed. Berlin denies cut the figure to one, a "lynching" of an airman after churchgoers had been strafed, according to a Nazi radio announcement. True or not, it makes little difference.

This, like many other Goebbels pipedream, may backfire. It certainly has not stopped air activity over Germany, and will not. But it has again outraged civilization with another instance of Hitler's brutality. We shall not take the sort of counter-measures that have made the Nazi infamous. But a just vengeance is not retaliation. Each of these new measures of Nazi desperation will make any thought of a "soft" peace for Germany that much more unlikely.

PRAYER FOR INVASION DAY

In his capacity as president of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, Bishop Henry St. George Tucker has issued the following prayer to be used in all churches on "Invasion Day" and immediately thereafter:

"Almighty and most merciful God, Father of all mankind, lover of every life, hear, we beseech thee, the cry of thy children in this dark hour of conflict and danger. Thou hast been the refuge and strength, in all generations, of those who put their trust in thee. May it please thee this day to draw to thyself the hearts of those who struggle and endure to the utmost. Have mercy on them and suffer not their faith in thee to fail. Guide and protect them by thy light and strength that they may be kept from evil. May thy comfort be sufficient for all who suffer pain or who wait in the agony of uncertainty. O righteous and omnipotent God, in their tragedies and conflict, judge the hearts of men and the purposes of nations, enter into this struggle with thy transforming power, that out of its anguish there may come a victory of righteousness. May there arise a new order which shall endure because in it thy will shall be done in earth as it is in heaven. Forgive us and cleanse us, as well as those who strive against us, that we may be fit instruments of thy purposes. Unto thy most gracious keeping we commend our loved ones and ourselves, ascribing unto thee all praise and glory, through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen."

A WORTHY PROJECT

While struggling with foes from without, we must not forget one of the greatest within our country—crime.

This is the statement made by Allison D. Wade, judge of the Thirty-seventh Judicial District of Pennsylvania, in an eloquent appeal for funds on behalf of the National Probation Association in connection with its annual membership campaign. Judge Wade continues:

"You, like all public-spirited citizens of our community, are deeply concerned about the future of our country.

"We are engaged in the most desperate struggle of our history against foreign enemies. Regardless of cost we are resolved to win the war and the peace so that our American freedom may be maintained.

"At the same time we cannot afford to forget our domestic enemy—crime. Every year the country spends billions of dollars in guarding against crime and in dealing with confirmed offenders. But I believe the only way to make progress in crime prevention is to deal understandingly and constructively with every child and youthful beginner in delinquency.

"The National Probation Association works in conjunction with local authorities throughout the country in the development and improvement of probation services and juvenile courts to help our American boys and girls to become better men and women for the future. There never was a time when this work was more necessary than today.

"The Association cannot carry on this work without support and this can be secured only from those who recognize their responsibility to assist in the prevention and treatment of crime and delinquency."

Contributions should be made payable to the National Probation Association and sent to Mrs. Lenor C. Jordan, Court House, Warren.

The national officers of the Association are: Dr. Roscoe Pound, president; Judge George W. Smyth, vice president; Henry DeForest Baldwin, treasurer, and Charles L. Chute, executive director.

World Y. M. C. A. will be observed this coming weekend. Be sure and attend worship in some church.

"WAKE UP, AMERICA!"
Should the Voting Age Be Lowered to 18?

Moderated by
FRED G. CLARK
Chairman, American Economic Foundation

As debated by
Dr. Joy Elmer Morgan
Editor, Journal of the National Education Association

Dr. Alfred P. Haake
Industrial Economist, Author, Lecturer

DR. MORGAN OPENS: I favor giving 18-year-olds the right to vote, enjoyed in ancient Greece during its golden age—now practiced in Mexico and Russia—recently extended to them by constitutional amendment in Georgia. The survival of democracy depends upon its ability to interest the majority of people in public affairs; to secure their honest and intelligent participation on behalf of the common welfare. Psychologists say the human mind matures at the age of 12 or 14; that after that judgment is developed by experience. Young people of 18 are far more familiar with public affairs than were men of 21 when the present rule was established. Education for citizenship in the schools has greatly improved. Young people finishing high school have an interest in public welfare which should be put to immediate use. If they wait several years before they can apply at the ballot box the knowledge gained, there is great loss of interest. Another reason of ordinary justice: Young men are drafted into the army to lay down their lives at 18. They should have a right to a voice in determining the policies of the nation for whose survival they fight and die. The ballot will eventually be extended to 18-year-olds because of the American sense of fair play—because democracy needs to develop to the full all its human resources.

DR. HAAKE CHALLENGES: The qualifications of a good voter are wisdom, applied knowledge and a sense of personal participation in the national life. High school does not establish these qualifications. They can only be established by applying book-learning to actual living as a responsible adult. More political problems are economic problems involving the property rights, group interests and personal freedom of endeavor. Adolescent interests are naturally outside of this scope and the theoretical knowledge received in school (particularly in the "progressive" schools) is no sound basis for the franchise. Last but not least, most 18-year-olds haven't the slightest interest in voting.

DR. MORGAN REPLIES: Whether one favors giving suffrage to 18-year-olds appears to depend largely on his faith in youth and in democracy. My faith in both is strong. It is based on long, wide experience with youth. Humanity has grown and fought its way step by step from "divine right of kings" and rule by the nobility. Suffrage has been gradually extended more and more widely against the opposition of those who feared to trust the people. But we can and must trust the people, all the people—it is our only hope.

DR. HAAKE OPENS: The law says any person under 21 is a "legal infant," not responsible for all his acts. Book-learning is not wisdom. Wisdom and sound judgment come only after living with the realities of adult life. How many votes does Mr. Morgan believe Frank Sinatra would get from "teen-age girls"? Adolescent voting introduces a very serious problem into any nation, particularly if the educational system is under control of political administrators. This is the most direct route to military nationalism and totalitarianism. "Teen-age voters are easy pickings for planners," "dreamers" and "Ministers from Utopia" as evidenced by the phenomenal political success of Hitler, Mussolini and Franco. Most adolescents know nothing of the problem of earning a living. They know nothing of the practical relationship of individual to government. Individual freedom is a matter that has never crossed their consciousness. They have never experienced taxation. They are, and quite rightly, interested in the social world about them, in sports, in clothing and in love. To those who believe that classroom knowledge, if studied conscientiously and applied to voting would have good results, let me suggest they examine the average textbooks on political science in current use in our high schools and judge for themselves whether action based on such knowledge would be beneficial.

DR. MORGAN CHALLENGES: Like others who draw their impressions from newspapers Dr. Haake greatly underestimates our youth of 18. Most of them—as their parents and teachers well know—are sound, serious, and deeply interested in their own future and the future of our country. Visit any night club and you will find more gray-headed folks than 18-year-olds. Dr. Haake fears that adding 18-year-old voters will upset the status quo. He forgets that you can't stop growth. Young people have one advantage. They are less afflicted than older people with the compromises and corruptions of our political life.

DR. HAAKE REPLIES: Dr. Morgan forgets that compromise is the lifeblood of democracy; it springs from mature judgment and tolerance, lacking in adolescents. The inability of "teen-age children to decide their actions is demonstrated by the frightening increase in juvenile delinquency since the war disrupted family supervision. It is desirable that children pursue adolescent interests. But a law declaring adolescents political adults will work no miracles in adolescent minds. It simply leaves them fertile soil for demagogues. America stands at the crossroads. The growing rift between propertyed and unpropertyed classes must be healed if democracy is to survive. Sober adult judgment based on knowledge, experience and responsibility remain our only hope.

Charming Off-Duty Dress Chosen by Wacs

Here's Corporal Margaret Snyder of Duluth, Minn., in the new dress just added by the War Department to the authorized uniform of the Women's Army Corps. Ready before mid-summer, it will be purchasable at cost from the Quartermaster Corps which developed it after getting the views of the Wacs themselves.

Proud of being in the Army, they were all for a dress with military aspect as this new washable rayon shantung, shirtmaker type one-piece costume of flattering creamy shade called "military beige" shows.

Corporal Snyder wears the "summer" dress; the "winter" off-duty uniform will be of lovely soft-finish all-wool crepe in a shade called "horizon tan," same design.

Alike for enlisted, and Army personnel, this dress is part of a new and attractive ensemble, including new WAC garrison cap of matching material; brown shoes of commercial design with closed toe and heel, and regulation cotton chamois gloves.

You'll soon be seeing members of the Women's Army Corps in these charming dresses during times when they can relax from vital Army jobs.

Seed Special Technique

Tap Packet With Finger to Make Seed Drop Into Drill.

One way to sow seeds is to tear the end of the packet, and hold it with the finger, seeds can be dropped into the drill at the desired rate. All seeds are likely to be sown quickly by this method, though practice it can be controlled. Beets well with larger seeds, so beet and Swiss chard, which are so small to be handled singly, so large to be easily dropped from the fingers.

Beet and Swiss chard seeds look alike, but they are different. Beet seed being a type of beet seed, it has a long, thin, and a for its leaves, which are rich in vitamin A. They are large, irregular, and are not single seeds, but seed clusters. The germination of beet seed is slow, and is retarded by the federal seed law is 65%, so that only two thirds of the seed are likely to grow. Germination takes seven to eight days. Seed should be spaced an inch apart and covered 1/2-inch deep. Firming the soil over the seed is important, because of their irregular formation, to insure close contact between soil and seed. Many gardeners mix a few radish seeds with chard and beet, to germinate quickly and mark the row before the beets begin to grow.

While beets may be thinned the first time after the roots have begun to thicken, and the entire thinned-out plants including the leaves, will make a delicious dish, the plants which are left to grow will suffer seriously from crowding so should have plenty of room to develop.

DETAIL FOR TO Flying the Iron Be

An aviation cadet who from here to there on a country flight finds it simple delightful to follow the tracks all the way. This is the IRON BEAM. The fact that cadets are against it and the powers discourage it, it seems fairly common practice. The unpleasant obstacles railroad, tunnel, which does not negotiate quite as does the 5.15. If a cadet water route and sets his along a river, that is k flying the Wet Beam.

Sylvania Plant At Emporium Wins Honors

(Special to the Times-Mirror)
Emporium, June 2—With informal ceremonies that permitted uninterrupted production of its electronic devices, Sylvania Electric Products Inc., Wednesday raised a new production award flag with a third star over the Radio Division plant here.

E. G. Erskine, chairman of the board of Sylvania, received the new honors—fourth from the U. S. Navy—after official notification was transmitted by Admiral C. C. Bloch, chairman of the Navy Board for Production Awards.

"This additional honor which you have won indicates your determination to supply our fighting forces with the materials needed to bring the war to a successful conclusion," wrote Admiral Bloch.

The original "E" award was accepted in a formal ceremony November 5, 1942; the first star was awarded March 25, 1943, and the second star on October 26, 1943.

Sylvania Electric Products, one of the world's leaders in radio tubes, incandescent and fluorescent lighting products and other electronic devices, has won Army-Navy "E" flags for excellence in production at five plants located at Williamsport and Emporium, Pa., and Salem and Danvers, Mass.

MAY STILL REGISTER

Mrs. Stuart Perrin, Girl Reserve secretary of the local YWCA calls attention of the girls to announcement that they may still enroll through the first of the week for the YW's stay-at-home-camp which opens the following Monday, June 12, and continues for two one-week periods.

SAW WILD TURKEY

For the second time within a few weeks a report of a wild turkey being seen in this section comes to the attention of sportsmen here. One was sighted on Morrison Run some time ago by Harry Shawkey and the latest report is of one of the big bronze birds crossing a highway on Kinzua creek between Kane and Kinzua. There is a ban on shooting the birds and from indications they may be staging a comeback in this county.

MAY LOSE DOGS

Warren folks are evidently forgetting that there is a quarantine on dogs which will not expire for several months. Dog owners are getting careless and complaints are made that many dogs are running loose. If a dog owner should lose his dog he will only have himself to blame as the police are empowered to kill dogs on sight if they are running loose. Chief Haehn has instructed his men to act and they will do so. One mad dog was killed yesterday and there is no reason to feel that danger from an epidemic of the disease has passed.

COURT NEXT WEEK

Next Monday the regular term of Quarter Sessions Court will open at 10 a. m. with the Grand Jury reporting for duty. There are several cases to be considered and it is expected that there will be several cases heard. Following the jury trials it is expected that the group of youths in jail for the Johnson and Larason store robberies will be up for sentence as all have entered pleas of guilty. It is further expected that the matter of the purchase of the Schimmling property on Fourth avenue for extension of the Court House offices will also be placed before the Grand Jury for action.

GOOD RECORD MADE

Warren county is making a good record in the handling of its bond issues and never has there been a default on any issue, which keeps the county's credit in excellent shape. An orgy of spending for roads some years ago, the addition to the court house, etc., have all been taken in stride and if there is no unforeseen expense arising during the next four years the sinking fund arranged at the time of various bond issues will have the county free from debt by 1948. This is an excellent record and one that should be welcomed by all citizens as the millage has been kept down consistently despite the various alphabetical offices that have had to be financed by the commissioners.

VOICE

The Pennsylvania Grade Crude Oil Association has a good voice . . . not loud, not strident, not "oily", though it speaks exclusively of oil.

For twenty years the voice of the Pennsylvania Grade Crude Oil Association has spoken steadily to the motorists of the United States—and to jobbers and dealers—about 100% Pure Pennsylvania Motor Oils. We speak through advertisements in leading national magazines.

It has been a persuasive voice, inducing millions of car owners to try these oils, and the performance of these oils has been so satisfactory that "tryers" have become steady buyers of Pennsylvania Oils

Advertising is the Association's No. 1 activity . . . in the past . . . the present . . . and in the post-war days to come.

St. Louis Browns Celebrate Feat of "Losing" Themselves Into First Place In American

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's only five games from top to bottom of the American League scale today as the St. Louis Browns celebrate their latest feat of "losing" themselves into first place.

When the Browns were slaughtered yesterday by Washington, 11-5, as the New York Yankees were squeezed out by Detroit, 4-3 (in 16 innings, Luke Sewell's crew took over the lead by two slender percentage points. They have won four and lost three more than the champions.

Detroit's clean sweep of the Yankee series put them only one game and a half away, with Philadelphia and Washington another length back.

Steve O'Neill repeated with Paul Trout and Hal Newhouse in relief roles to shade the New Yorkers. Lefty Hal getting credit for his eighth win and third over the Yanks. Don Ross' double off Relfer Atley Donald was the telling blow.

Stan Spence slammed six hits in six times at bat to tie the modern record that team mate George Myatt and 23 other gents hold as Washington routed four Brownie hurlers with 20 blows.

George Metkovich banged a three-run homer in the ninth to assure Boston a 7-6 victory over Cleveland. Boston scored four in the first, but the Tribe had rallied for a two-run edge with two out in the last frame when Metkovich hit for all four.

Johnny Barrett was the whole show as Pittsburgh topped Brooklyn 2-1 for Rip Sewell's seventh triumph. Barrett's eighth-inning round tripper won the game and his catch of Luis Olmo's long drive in the ninth saved it. Babe Dahlgren also touched Curt Davis for a homer, although Davis gave but four hits.

The St. Louis Cardinals lengthened their National lead to three and a half games by downing Boston 4-2, while Cincinnati bowed to the Phillies, 8-7. George Munger joined Mate Max Lanier in the six-win class but had to be relieved by Fred Schmidt after dislocating a finger trying to stop a liner. Kewpie Dick Barrett batted home four runs with a triple and a double in getting credit for the Phils win over the Reds.

Danny Gardella authored his fourth homer in the seventh frame of a night game gave the New York Giants a 5-3 edge over Chicago. It was the sixth straight victory for the Polo grounders who took fourth place on the day's results.

The Philadelphia-Chicago game in the American was postponed.

Forgers Turn Back Vikings By Close Score of 5 to 2

In their opening game at the State Hospital field the National Forge, of Irvine, representing the institution, turned back Thor Carlson's Vikings, of Jamestown, last evening by a count of 5 to 2.

The Vikings put on the field one of the best teams to represent that organization for many seasons, and the result was in doubt until the last man was out in the ninth inning, when J. Massa hauled down Pratt's long drive with the bases loaded.

The Vikings jumped on Gagliardi in the first inning when Yamlie singled to center, went to second on a fielder's choice by Squini, home on Pratt's single through short.

Forge went scoreless for three innings, then went to work on Mee in the fourth, Morrison doubled to right, Solok filed out, Gagliardi, who is becoming a very good third sacker, slapped a triple along the left field foul line cleaning the bases.

The Vikings scored in the seventh when Gagliardi doubled, Morrison scored on a fielder's choice by Squini, home on Pratt's single through short.

May again join the Air Corps Enlisted Reserve

ENLISTMENT in the Air Corps Enlisted Reserve is once more open to qualified young Americans . . . who want to win their wings on the "greatest team in the world"—an AAF air combat crew.

In April, thanks to the air-mindedness of America's youth, the AAF's personnel program was well ahead of schedule. More than enough men were in training, and in the Air Corps Enlisted Reserve, to meet scheduled quotas for combat crews. At the same time, the need for men in other branches of the army was urgent. Therefore, opportunities to join the AAF—including the 17-year-old Enlisted Reserve—were suspended.

As the Commanding General pointed out, the suspension of enlistments in the Reserve was intended only as a temporary measure. Accordingly, effective June 1, enlistments have again been opened in the 17-year-old Enlisted Reserve in order to insure a sufficient number of qualified individuals for training this fall.

The AAF is a Team

Today, the AAF is the largest, most powerful air force in the world. Fighting side by side with the planes of our Navy and our Allies, it has won control of the air in every theatre—and has carried the war to the military and industrial hearts of Germany and Japan. It is daring the enemy to "come up and fight." Yet its losses have been less than anyone had anticipated or even dared to hope.

That all this has been accomplished is due, in large measure, to the fact that the

AAF air combat crew is more than just planes and men. The combat crew is a team . . . the greatest fighting team the world has ever seen . . . with Gunners, Bombardiers, Navigators and Pilots flying and fighting together, to win.

And any young man who wants AAF wings should keep this ideal of teamwork uppermost in his mind. It is the key to AAF successes in battle. It will be the key to his own success in the AAF.

If you want to fly with the AAF, you may apply at any AAF Examining Board for enrollment in the Air Corps Enlisted Reserve. Upon passing the preliminary qualifying physical and mental tests, you will become a member of the U. S. Army Air Forces—on inactive duty. This means that you will not be called for training until you have reached your 18th birthday. If you are at work you may remain on the job until you are 18. If you are in high school, you may elect to finish the semester you are in when you become 18. If you are a high school graduate, not over 17 years and 9 months, you may elect to take advantage of the Army Specialized Training Reserve Program, which provides free college training for men approaching military age.

When called, you will first be given "basic" training. During this period, you will take "aptitude" tests to determine whether you will be classified for training as Gunner, Bombardier, Navigator or Pilot.

Your Place on the AAF Team

If you have an outstandingly high aptitude rating for a particular position, you may be given an opportunity to compete for the classification that you prefer. But it is important to remember that all jobs on the AAF team are vitally important . . . that air combat crews not only are chosen from the very cream of the nation's young men, but that each seat in every plane must be filled by the man best qualified to fill it.

Gunners go into actual combat as non-commissioned officers. In addition to being the world's best aerial marksmen, gunners may qualify as trained technicians—in radio, armament or airplane mechanics. Pilots, Navigators, and Bombardiers are graduated from training as 2nd Lieutenants or Flight Officers.

Your job, and your rank, in the AAF will depend upon your own demonstrated abilities. For full information as to qualifying for the Air Corps Enlisted Reserve, see your nearest AAF Examining Board or local Army Recruiting Station.

For Pre-Aviation Training

Whether or not you have yet reached 17, you can begin now to prepare yourself to qualify for the Air Corps Enlisted Reserve. See your local Civil Air Patrol officers about C.A.P. Cadet Training . . . also see your High School principal or adviser about recommended courses in the Air Service Division of the High School Victory Corps. Both offer excellent pre-aviation training . . . and help point the way to AAF wings.

Chapter 20

It WAS a perfect day—the sky was blue to be real, and the sun dancing and dimpled in the sun. Cora couldn't help but happy on such a day and she strolled softly as she hiked along. She was not built for running, however, and soon she was whistling in order to save breath.

The path became narrower and undergrowth more dense. She stopped for a minute to rest. As she sat, she saw a yellow flower that grew beside the path. It looked like a little yellow bell. She reached for it. She gathered a bunch of them. The odors of them had always seemed to be a little further on, and when she finished she was much deeper in the woods than she had intended to.

She stopped and tried to remember how she had got there. The path was to her left. She struck out in that direction. After a few minutes of bad luck she had to admit she was lost.

Now see here, she told herself. It get rattled. You can't get lost on a mountain. All you have to do is go down. If you go down you're bound to come to the bottom of it.

But the going got worse, instead of better, and it was roughing through the bushes and all trees. She swerved from one course to avoid an especially big growth and came out into comparatively clear spot.

She topped to get her bearings, and spied an opening in the hills. It was evidently a cave, and being big the size of the one she had seen in a picture. A thought came flashed through her mind but she dismissed it. She had never heard of any nearby.

I'll just peek inside, she thought.

IT WAS a big cave. Cora could stand upright in the entrance. She peered inside, the flowers clutched to her bosom. The interior was dusky, though, and it was a second or two before her eyes became adjusted to the gloom.

When they did she was surprised. Why it's nice, she thought, and stepped in. Then she stopped in amazement.

There was a pile of blankets on the floor, and reposing on top of them was a loaf of bread. There was also a brown paper carton containing more groceries, and beside it a battered coffee pot.

Most amazing of all, on a little ledge lay a safety razor and a tube of shaving cream.

"Well, of all things!" Cora exclaimed, and then froze with terror.

Someone or something had moved in the darkness at the back of the cave!

For a second she was incapable of movement, then she turned and with a wild leap was out of the cave and tearing down the mountain.

For a second she was incapable of movement, then she turned and with a wild leap was out of the cave and tearing down the mountain.

Cora still carried Zelda's bouquet, but she cared little now whether it got mused or not. She barged through the bushes, banged into trees, fell and scrambled up again. Briars ripped at her clothes and her stockings were riddled. Her hair slid over her left ear, and in one of her collisions with a hemlock her glasses became bent so that one lens was tipped almost at right angles to the other.

Lack of breath and sheer physical exhaustion stopped her finally. She slowed, looked wildly over her shoulder, and finding that she was not pursued, stopped and learned against a tree. She was gasping for breath, and now she began to hiccup.

She rested there a moment, glancing fearfully around her, but nothing or no one appeared. So after a little she started out again. She had only gone a short distance when she came out onto the path.

"Thank the Lord," she said fervently. "At least I know where I am." She hurried along, hiccupping as she went.

And then she saw the count. He was coming up the path. Cora was above him and could see him plainly but she doubted that he could see her even if he looked up, which he did not do. Above all people, she did not want to meet the count just then.

She stopped and looked around for a place to hide until he got past. She did not want to get too far off the path. She had got into trouble enough already that way.

A LITTLE way off a giant evergreen stood beside an enormous boulder. She hurried to it and crouched down behind the rock. She was completely hidden.

She could hear the count blithely approaching; then suddenly she could see him. Unconsciously she held her breath, waiting for him to get past her. What brings him 'way here? Cora wondered.

He had, of all things, a brown paper parcel under his arm, and as he got opposite Cora's hiding place he stopped and shifted it from one side to the other. She crouched closer to the ground and waited for him to go on.

He did almost at once, and Cora sighed with relief.

Then she hiccupped!

such familiar points as Calais: The World War I debarcation point of Boulogne; the resort Le Touquet; and Cape Gris Nez, terminal for channel swimmers.

RAF heavy bombers concentrated on southwest French rail yards at Saumur, 150 miles from Paris, and the French coast last night. Mediterranean forces attacked Hungarian yards 50 miles east of Budapest at Szolnok. Mosquitoes bombed a target in Denmark and the Germans reported an air attack which damaged a convoy off the west Norwegian coast. Middle east bombers attacked ports on the big Greek island of Crete. Enemy waters were mined.

The daylight raiders carried the Allies second big pre-invasion aerial offensive since the first of April into its fifteenth day. Glittering in the sunlight the attacking force headed toward the much-battered stretch of French coast between Dieppe and Douloigne.

The attack on the Saumur rail yards was made by RAF heavy bombers. The air ministry said that night raiders also struck a military objective near the French coast but did not indicate its nature. Mosquitoes simultaneously bombed an unspecified objective in Denmark. All the planes returned safely from the operations.

In offensive sweeps into France and Germany yesterday evening RAF and RCAF fighters shot down three German planes while three planes in the attacking force were lost.

RICE HARVEST TIME CUT

Instead of the usual method of reaping rice - letting it dry in the sun before threshing - U. S. rice growers are saving $15 an acre in manpower by improvements in rice harvesting and processing which enables them to harvest the rice while it is still wet.

Kapok will support 30 times its own weight in water; it is used in life-aving equipment.

Is it ever wise to BORROW?

No one should borrow unnecessarily, but there are times when a loan is the best solution to a money problem. Thousands of letters in our files tell of the many worth-while things made possible by a Personal loan. If you need extra cash, perhaps a Personal loan would be to your advantage too.

Personal makes loans promptly, and privately, without involving outsiders. Sensible monthly payments are arranged, and the cost is surprisingly low. For example: $30 for 2 weeks costs less than 50c. Getting a loan at Personal is as simple as opening a charge account. Come in, phone or write us today.

is an outstanding leader in the social work of Pittsburgh and vicinity and is familiar, too, with the work of the Y. M. C. A., being a member of the metropolitan board of the Pittsburgh Association.

An interesting historical presentation will be made by Byron W. Knapp, of the "Y" Board, and a Ceremony of Dedication will be led by General Secretary Ralph Wagner, assisted by Dr. O. S. Brown and John Elliott. The program is designedly brief and the dinner will be a fine one. The question has been raised by some: "Are the women included in the invitation?" The answer is "No", the event being planned for men only. If any men wish to bring sons of senior high school age, these will be welcome.

Reservations can be made by telephone and the tickets purchased on or before Tuesday night. The hour of the dinner is 6:30 p. m.

slashed was not disclosed by headquarters.

The British and French to the southeast squeezed tighter up the highway, and the French seized Ponte Di Morolo, three miles below the famous road, west of Frosinone.

Along the coastal flank of the battle for Rome, naval guns again supported the British push, bombarding enemy batteries near Ardea with successful results.

The first United States troops struck into Velletri at 5:15 p. m. yesterday and on their march into the town square captured 19 prisoners. Associated Press War Correspondent Daniel De Luce reported from the front.

Headquarters said the Americans who penetrated the German Val-Montone-Velletri line to 2,600-foot Monte Artemisio have "established themselves" but are now battling against strong enemy defense positions. Americans on this and other heights now are fighting in view of Rome.

Eastward other Fifth Army troops cut a two-mile section of the railway in the Ardena-Valmontone area, and threw pounding pressure on the Hermann Goering division astride the Via Cassilina in that sector.

The enemy threw fierce artillery barrages against these Allied forces but some gains were made. The Germans were said still to be throwing every available man into the defense along the 25-mile line from Valmontone to the sea. Parachute troops have been identified in the Velletri area. Elsewhere the Nazis were said to be using such non-combatant forces as company butchers and house tenders.

West of the Eighth Army push toward Frosinone, French advance threatened to cut in behind the fleeing Germans.

Northeast of Frosinone, above the highway, Eighth Army troops drove to the neighborhood of Veroli despite anti-tank gunfire at the Allied armor.

Around the Nation's Capital

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Take the word
of a lot of government officials
and don't believe everything
you hear.

The most recent proof of this has a rather amusing story behind it. Rep. Sol Bloom (Dem., N. Y.), chairman of the House committee on foreign affairs, had
asked Foreign Economic Administrator Leo T. Crowley a batch
of questions about Lend-Lease.
Practically all had to do with rumors that Lend-Lease was the economic "goat" in a good many
deals that now are being trans-
acted between the United States
and our allies.

WHAT Mr. Crowley said, in effect, was that most of these rumors about Lend-Lease being
the economic sucker were dreamed up by Nazi propa-gandists to create dissension in Allied ranks. Then, one by one, he took up some of the major rumors and branded them as out-
right lies.

I haven't the space to report
them all, but among them were
stories that we are giving the British Lease-Lend gasoline at two cents a gallon which they are reselling to our own forces in Britain at 42 cents a gallon; that
the British are relabelling Lend-Lease goods and reselling them
to South America; that alcohol
sent to Britain is converted into
whisky and resold to this country

at a fabulous profit; that North Africans are getting huge quantities of diaper cloth and nylon
hose under Lend-Lease while the
folks at home can't get a stitch;
that the Russians are trading Lend-Lease U. S. planes for Japanese rubber and using Lend-
Lease butter to grease their boots.
The list is endless.

I HAVE followed Lend-Lease
since its inception. I have never talked to a minor or major
official who didn't think some inconsistencies couldn't creep in,
but I've never talked to one
either who didn't feel that it would be impossible to conceive
of any administrator approving
an expenditure that couldn't be
explained on real merit.

What government officials here
will admit privately is that when
billions are being thrown around
in an all-out war effort, some
funds will drift into the palms of grafters. But in the case of Lend-Lease, they insist, very little of it
goes that way.

If there is any doubt of that,
look at the voting record of Congress on Lend-Lease funds. In Congress no opportunity is overlooked to make political capital of administration errors. Lend-Lease
has come in for its share of criticism but when the chips are down
these day, few of the 530-odd
members of the House and Senate are willing to record their
votes in the "Nays" column.

The term "iron horse" for steam
locomotives was coined by Sitting Bull, Sioux Indian chief.

Drastic Rule On Hiring Men Is Laid Down

The United States Employment
Bureau of the War Manpower
Commission has issued a drastic
rule effective July 1 relative to hiring of men. The rule requires that any employer wishing to hire any
male worker must do so through the Manpower Commission. By
this method workers must stay in
jobs where they are most needed.
The matter of employment is a serious one in the face of the dire

need now for war supplies as the
biggest demand of the war is just ahead. There is seemingly a growing feeling that the end of the war
is in sight and it is to cope with
this that the order has been issued.
The failure of congress to pass the
bill requiring men to work or fight
has also called for the application
of the order which will place more
and more men in essential industry.

Recruitment programs of an intensified nature to transfer workers from loose labor markets to
critical areas to meet the manpower shortage is also to be undertaken.

All the gold that has been mined
in the world since Columbus discovered America could be put into a 40-foot cube.
